“Online değilse yoktur!”

--Hocaların gözünden öğrenciler

«Lütfen tarayıp bana gönderebilir misiniz?!»

--Akademisyen ve Araştırmacılar

Birincil Kaynak Arşivleri (geleneksel arşivler):

Ziyaret etmek için oldukça pahalı

Araştırmalarda destekleyici fonlar olmazsa bu arşivlerin ziyaret edilmesi neredeyse imkansızlaşır

İhtiyaç olan gerçek bilgiye tam olarak ulaşamamak

Yapısından dolayı aranan bilgiye çoğu zaman erişilemez

Öğrenciler için çoğu zaman erişim problemi

Çoğu zaman öğrenciler kullanamaz, özel izinler gerekmektedir

Online olarak erişilebilir değil

Arşivlerin dijitalleştirilerek kullanıma açılması:

Bilginin bütününe erişim kolaylığı sağlar

Araştırmacı ve öğrenciler için daha kolay, etkin erişim

Tarihsel bağlam

Geleceğin araştırmalarını şekillendiren arşivsel veri kullanımı

«yeni» materyal zenginlikleri üzerindeki kilit kalkar

Fakülte üyeleri, araştırmacılar ve öğrenciler için rekabetçi araştırma ortamının bu anahtar kaynaklarla daha da değiştiği görülür, daha özgün araştırmalar yapılmasına destek olur

Yeni İçerikler Kolayca eklenir

Eklenen her yeni içerik araştırmaların hemen bir parçası haline gelir

Dijitalleştirme programları: problemleri çözer ve ihtiyaçları karşılar

Erişim & Keşif

a more remote ancestor, social relationships are of a different kind.

The genealogy is the structural framework of Bedouin society. In form, it is static, and is kept thus by the inter-section of several processes - telescoping of names, fusion of names, natural extinction of groups, exile, migration and war.

The position of the Marabtin (clients) and the Laff (the grafted elements) as members of tribes, is then examined. Their relation to the Sa'adi (noble) tribesmen is then examined. The Marabtin, with a few exceptions, do not form tribes in a political sense. They are split up and scattered throughout Cyrenaica. They are ethnic groups rather than tribes. The Laff are those people or groups of people grafted to a noble lineage. In some cases, assimilation with the lineage has become almost complete, but they do not, even when the memory of their origin has faded, a more remote ancestor» social relationships are of a different kind. The genealogy is the structural framework of Bedouin society. If, then, it is static» and is kept thus by the inter-jection of several processes – telescoping of names» fusion of names, natural extinction of groups, exile, migration and war. The position of the Tarabtin (clients) and the Laff (the grafted elements) as members of tribes, is then examined. Their relation to the Saʿadl (noble) tribesmen is then examined. The 'arah tin, with a few exceptions, do not form tribes in a political sense. They are split up and scattered throughout Cyrenaica. They are ethnic groups rather than tribes. The Laff are those people or groups of people grafted to a noble lineage. In some cases, assimilation with the lineage has become almost complete, but they do not, even when the memory of their origin has faded, become completely assimilated, neither Marabtin nor Laff own land or water, and depend for these facilities on the Saʿadi tribes to which they are attached, but whereas the Lārab tin are granted the use of these resources in return for services, the Laff are granted the right to use them as a condition of attachment to the lineage. The lineage is the tribe without its lārabtin and Laff accretions, an attempt is made to give clearer definition of the lineage and to illustrate the occasions when it functions as such.
